The Way of Holistic Health

HOW PREFIT BODYSCAN WILL HELP YOUR PATIENTS

Holistic and automatic scanning of central functions of the body!

The Prefit Bodyscan device determines ideal training time, performance fitness, and dietary tips suited to an individual's needs. The device can also help measure whether the trainee has a tendency for an acid/base imbalance to avoid barriers to fitness.

Body composition analyser (BCA)

The Prefit Bodyscan uses Body Composition Analysis to provide accurate measurements of body fat percentage compared to muscle tissue, enabling you to come up with precise plans for the patients aiming for muscle gain and weight loss in targeted areas.

Optimum training time

Inspired by Traditional Chinese Medicine, the device can help differentiate between rest and active phases of the body. This further helps in determining the optimum period of time for training after scanning the trainee's activity status.

Body mass index (BMI)

In order to provide individualized tips based on metrics like weight and height, the device calculates the BMI of a trainee and modifies the training plan and recommendations as per personalized needs.

Provides customized constitutional muscle analysis

By identifying strained muscles, overworked joints, weak spots in the spinal column, muscle stiffness, and others, the Prefit Bodyscan displays the analysis graphically, while recommending a suitable training program to overcome the same.

Individualized fitness & dietary tips

For fitness efforts to come through and make a difference in a trainee or athlete's lifestyle, having the right kind of diet plays a crucial role. The device, based on whole-body function measurement, determines what the body needs and doesn't, in the form of dietary recommendations.

Pulse rate check

An optimum training pulse frequency is crucial in burning body fat, maximizing endurance, and more. Prefit Bodyscan does just that by individually determining the optimum pulse for effective burn rates.

HOW PREFIT BODYSCAN CAN ELEVATE YOUR BUSINESS

Arrive at an optimum individualized training plan in 10 minutes!

With one swift measurement, this device scans and records crucial parameters of an individual, thus saving time and determining a fitness regimen promptly

Quick, easy to operate, the Prefit Bodyscan also requires very little space in terms of product placement in a fitness studio and empowers safe and healthy training.

A product made by medical experts for fitness experts, the Prefit BodyScan method of training care and supervision was developed and tested in collaboration with professional sports teams such as AC Milan, sports physicians, and physiotherapists thus significantly increasing product credibility and building reliability for your venture..

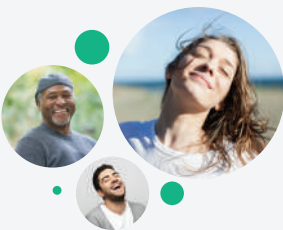

"In my daily work with top athletes, I rely on the meaningful results of the Prefit Bodyscan."

Feri Bogdan
(Physiotherapist)

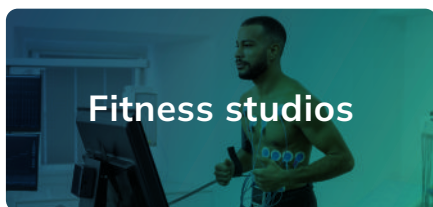

"The results of muscle analysis with the Prefit Bodyscan agree with our expert knowledge as physiotherapists. The data on stressed joints and spine provide valuable support in deciding which treatment to apply"

Sascha Seifert
(Sports Physiotherapist)

Over 90% of patients report relief from symptoms after the first session!

MOST SUITABLE FOR

Fitness studios

Caters to individualized training plans for optimum results while saving time for your trainees on day-long fitness checks, lengthy dietary prescriptions, lack of awareness of problem zones in muscles, etc., to offer greater breadth and depth in your services.

Physiotherapists

Immediately recognizes muscle problems, imbalance of dietary measures, or any physical resistance in your patients to prescribe and follow-up with optimum therapy.

Sports (training) centers

With knowledge of muscle composition, dietary needs, previously recorded problem areas, and more, you can offer your athletes the best possible window to optimum training. Ascertain the body's ability while training to quickly access available energy reserves by knowing the trainee's dynamics inside-out.
